Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administered it to her own offspring and always with the best results. THE DAILY BULLETIN.

Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,
But Established for the Benefit of All.

SATURDAY, OCT. 8, 1892.

AMENDE HONORABLE.

The BULLETIN has never held itself responsible for the opinions of correspondents. At the same time this journal knows that it is responsible for the protection of private character and reputation from unjustifiable injury at the hands of anybody who contributes to its columns. Several communications have been published in this paper, reflecting on official American Representatives, relative to the wrecked ship Wm. A. Campbell. So far as such communications have been honest even if severe expressions of public opinion, without evident malice or personal prejudice, they have been published here in accordance with one of the cardinal principles on which the BULLETIN was founded and has in the main always been conducted—namely, that a public journal should afford a medium for the expression of the people's views upon any matter of public interest. An organ of public opinion should, however, be ready and willing to make honorable amends for any wrong committed, inadvertently or carelessly, in its columns. In one of the communications referred to above, we are satisfied that expressions were used toward the United States diplomatic representative of a personally offensive nature. Although we were made aware of a high state of resident American feeling on the subject, it was a lapse of editorial discretion that allowed that feeling to take such offensive personal liberties in our columns. We therefore freely and frankly apologize for having permitted the publication of the obnoxious expressions in question. As to the main question, the United States officials at Honolulu are responsible to their own Government at Washington and not to residents of foreign countries. Yet their own Government might be unable, any more than the representatives of any other Government, to judge of their entire conduct if all local expression of opinion regarding their course, under all circumstances, were to be suppressed. A powerful section of the American press compelled the recall of Sir Lionel Sackville-West, British Minister at Washington, in 1888 for an undue meddling with the politics of the country to which he was accredited. Legitimate criticism of public men, however, should not imply license for acrimonious personalities. We therefore again express deep regret for the offensive remarks in the published letter mentioned, as well as for any other anonymous reflections upon American officials, with regard to their course in dealing with the case of the shipwrecked crew, which may have exceeded the bounds of legitimate criticism.

OUR POSITION.

Referring to the "Amende Honorable" in these columns to-day, it seems necessary to remove some current misconceptions of this journal's position. The BULLETIN is neither the property nor the "official organ" of the Hawaiian Government. It is published by a chartered corporation as a business enterprise. If it has contained more of the official advertisements of the Government than its English daily contemporary, since the change of Ministry in 1890, that has only been in accord with the practice of all Ministries in Hawaii of throwing the major part of their patronage into the journals most friendly to them. The Advertiser made the machine and all connected with it a subject of ridicule. Now that the dredge has accomplished the work for which it was designed, so far as the harbor entrance is concerned, that paper goes to enormous expense to show that the authors of the work knew what they were about and that it (the Advertiser) had been making a fool of itself. It reminds one of a fish rarely seen called the "sucker."

More Opium on the Castle.

C. L. Crabbe, Port Surveyor, has been keeping a sharp eye on the barkentine S. N. Castle, since the day the police captured the carpenter coming ashore from that vessel with 102 tins. Yesterday there were symptoms exhibited about the vessel of a projected attempt to land some of the stuff. A strong watch was maintained all night in hope of catching a possessor as well as the opium itself. This morning, however, the Port Surveyor concluded that further delay might endanger chances of catching even the contraband. He therefore sent officers on board, who made a big find right on the deck. In a kerosene tin were packed 134 half-pound tins of Hongkong opium, worth at retail $1500 to $2000. The opium was taken to the Custom House.

What May Be Looked For Next Saturday.

The Ladies of Honolulu are Asked to Support the Scheme—An Open Letter on a Subject of Interest.

TO THE LADIES OF HONOLULU.

The Management of the Temple of Fashion wish to state that, as many have been unable to gain admittance this week because of the large crowds thronging the bargain sale, special arrangements have been made for their accommodation Saturday.

The Temple of Fashion will be closed all day on Friday; positively, no goods will be sold on that day. The entire force of the store will be engaged in arranging for a special sale for Saturday.

On Saturday no dress goods (except silks), no calicoes, ginghams, or wash goods of any description will be sold; no foot-wear or head-gear will be disposed of. Special bargains in special lines will be the text for Saturday.

Our entire stock, all shades and colors, at your own price.

A full line of laces, embroideries, trimmings, insertions, etc., will be marked down; prices clear out of sight. No reserve.

Everything in this line at McKinley prices.

Our whole stock will be slaughtered. All styles and grades.

If you want handkerchiefs, step in on Saturday. If you desire to see some astonishing prices on muslin underwear, children's dresses, etc., drop in Saturday.

Those who come to look remain to buy; very few dollars pass us. A large stock of ladies' under-vests at any price; they must be closed out.

Everything must go—and must go quickly. Saturday is to be a day of slaughter in fancy dry goods, and bargains will cover our counters in endless profusion. We will endeavor to have a sufficient force of clerks engaged to attend to any and all without delay. We have set aside next Saturday, by request, to allow the ladies of Honolulu to inspect our stock of fancy goods, and examine the prices, which are all marked in plain figures.
